Before the 19th century, European roads were in bad condition. Some were originally old Roman roads. Most people could not read or write, and Spain was no exception. Inns, called posadas, grew up along the roads, offering meals and rooms. Since few innkeepers could write and few travellers read, inns offered their guests a sample of the dishes available, on a "tapa" (the word for pot cover in Spanish). In fact, a "tapa" was a small portion of any kind of Spanish cuisine.
